The Women of the White House.

[Springfield Republican.]

The American respect of women has always protected the lady of the White House. She always goes in with acclaim and her "administration" is almost respectfully spoken of in its time, and her domestic and social virtues are not a little celebrated. It takes an interval of time before the presidentesses get their historic places —sometimes greater sometimes less than that conceded to them cotemporarily. Dolly Madison, for instance, has become the highest type of womanly demeanor in that elevated station. In this generation, up to Mr. Hayes' time, old habitues of Washington looked back to Miss Harriet Lane, Mr. Buchanan's niece, as the bell hostess of the American court. it was with great reluctance that the fond public was disillusionized as to Mrs. Lincoln, and they are scarcely ready yet to go through the same process as to Mrs. Grant, who was lauded in her time.

When Mrs. Hayes came in, bright, and attractive and not unaccustomed to society, there was naturally the old acclaim with redoubled violence. Now, in almost the last year of the Administration, it is therefore worth saying as a matter of sober chronicle that no woman since Harriett Land, approaches the success of Mrs. Hayes as a lady of the White House. It is an important fact in the local situation at Washingtin, for the Hayes Administration on its male side is one of negative social qualities rather than of positive. In the last administration there was always a local satisfaction in seeing "old Grant" moving about the streets like any other man, with his moody cigar. Mr. Hayes is a less familiar and a less sympathetic figure. It is Mrs. Hayes who receives the guests of the White House with such grace and show of personal interest, and gives a color and character to what would otherwise be the pale and frigid sociation of the exclusive mansion. It was not easy at first to do this, to throw off the simplicity and provincial air of life and dress "out west" and step into the place of the first lady in the country. In fact, the trial is more difficult for the woman than for the man of the White House, for men meet men vastly more than women meet women. But Mrs. Hayes has bloomed forth into a real and agreeable representative of the best and most attractive in American womanhood. the tact with which she has carried through her opposition to the offering of wines to guests evidences her strength of character, both as a lady and as a christian. Mrs. Clemmer compares Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Gen. Sherman as the two leading women in Washington society, and as fitly representatives of the two great divisions of the Christian body in this country.

Josh Billings' Advice to Joe.

By awl means, Joe, get married, if you have a fair show. Don't stand shivering on the bank, but pitch in and stick your head under, and the shiver is over. There ain't any more trick in getting married than there is in eating peanuts, Menny a man stood shivering on the shoar until the river ran out. Don't expect to marry an angel; them hev all been picked up long ago. Remember, Joe, you ain't a saint yourself. Do not marry for buty exclusively; buty is like ice, awful slippery, and thaws dreadful easy. Don't marry fer luv, neither; luv is like a cooking-stove, good for nothing when the fuel gives out. But let the mixture be some buty, becomingly dressed, with about $250 in her pocket, a good speller, handy and neat in the house, plenty of good sense, a tuff constitution and by-laws, small feet, a light step: add to this sound teeth and a warm heart. This mixture will keep in any climate and not evapofate. If the cork happens to be left out two or three minutes, the strength ain't all gone, Joe. Don't marry for pedigree unless it is backed by bank notes. A family with nothing but pedigree generally lacks sense.

* * *

A Well known beauty in London society occupied a stage-box at a theatre in the Strand not long ago. Her white furs and diamonds were the admiration oi the house. Shortly after the beauty's departure an attendant found a star of brilliants in the box and like an honest woman, gave the treasure-trove in the hands of the management. No inquiries were made next day at the theater about the lost star, but ultimately it found its way into the rightful owner's hands. The oddest part of the story remains to be told. The diamonds were false.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Tuesday a miner at the Noonday had a narrow escape. While setting timbers disturbed a large boulder, which came rolling down the upraise, and just missed his legs. A miss is as good as mile.

GIVE TO THE NEEDY.—In another column will be found the programme of the concert to be given on next Saturday evening for the benefit of the family of the late A. C. Robinson, who was killed at the Spaulding mine. The family was left entirely destitute, and although our citizens have lately been, almost daily called on to contribute their mite to charitable purposes, the appeal for the Robinson family should not be overlooked by the kind hearted. The concert will be one of the best ever gotten up in the city and promises to be a great success, financially and musically. Let all buy a ticket.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, March 3.—L. T Wise of the French navy, who holds a concession from the government of the U. S. of Columbia for the interoceanic canal, said to-day, before sailing for France, I look upon it as a great work, which all nations should take part in, and particularly America. Its great importance to the United States of America, cannot be overestimated. I think work should be carried on in accordance with the wishes of the people of this country. In the position I occupy I must see that everything is done in accordance with the concession I have obtained, if any attempts are made in other directions, in my own interest and that of those vested in me, we must and will protect our rights for time to come. Should De Lesseps succeed in forming a company, he will in all probability be elected President, and in his position as president, he would of course receive a handsome bonus in making my contract with the Columbia Government. I foresaw the possibility of a coming company, in the land of the stars and stripes, and to form one is my dearest wish in the future. My influence with DeLesseps is not to-day what it was formerly, chiefly, because from the first, when that celebrated gentleman undertook to form a company, our views on many points have not concided, and also because among those who surrounded him there are some whose presence is much to be regretted. My immediate interests lie in the financial sucess of De Lessps, but we have more extensive rights than he has and more time to accomplish the gigantic undertaking.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Effort is making the Commercial says to take the Evening Express from control of Tammany Hall. Milton Brooks, son of late J. Brooks, owns about one third of the stock. Last week he borrowed all the stock he could raise on his own real estate, with which to buy up old share and out vote John Kelley at the annual election of Trustees, Monday. Brook's ticket includes names of Andrew H. Green, Chas. T. McLean. and Henry Jackson in place of John Kelley, Augustus Schell, and Commissioner Mooney, the present trustees, A great rush for Express proxies is now going on, and if the scheme is successfully. the Express will no longer be the Tammany organ, but it will urge Tilden upon the Democracy as the only available presidential candidate. Kelley controls nearly one half the stock.

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—In the Assembly today, after a long debate and a number of attempts to amend and postpone, resolutions excluding Dennis Kearney from the Assembly Chamber and all portions of the building under Assembly control were passed by a vote of 40 to 28.

BRIDGEPORT, March, 3d.—In the case of the B. M. and B. Wagon Road Company no persons summoned on the last venire, appeared hence the panel is not full. Storming heavily to-day. A petition was put in circulation to-day, asking the Legislature to permit the Superior Court to hold its Sessions at Bodie until the Supervisors shall provide a suitable room in which to hold Court; the petition is being unanimously signed.

MINING BUREAU.

The Committee on Mines and Mining of the Assembly have reported to the Assembly in favor of the passage of the bill. This bill was introduced by Assemblyman Wasson, of this county. The following are its provisions:

Sec. 1, provides for the establishing of a Mining Bureau in San Francisco, at which place there shall be collected by the State Mineralogist, and preserved for study and reference specimens of all the geological and mineralogical substances, including mineral waters, found in this State; and also specimens of minerals found in other States and Territories, the same to be open to public inspection.

Sec. 2 provides for the appointment of a State Mineralogist, to hold office for four years at a salary of $3,000 per annum, and necessary traveling expenses when traveling on the business of his office.

Sec. 3 provides for the classification and preservation of said specimens, etc., and to procure and preserve models of mining and milling machinery; to visit the several mining districts in the State from time to time, ascertain and record their history, etc., the character of the mines, and at the close of the year make a report to the Governor.

Sec. 4 gives the Mineralogist power to appoint assistants.

Sec. 5 establishes a fund to carry out the provisions of the Act. Said fund to be made up from moneys paid by corporations on certificates of stock issued.

Opposition to this bill has been manifested in San Francisco, as the State has a fine cabinet of specimens at the State University.

We can see no reason why the bill should not pass. The objections to it might be tenable were the University collection located in San Francisco, but being at Berkley not one in a hundred interested in mining can see them, but if there is a collection in San Francisco—all can visit the Bureau without cost and loss of much time, and learn much of the mining industry of our State and coast.

Davidson Pearson, aged 104 years, died suddenly Saturday in Meadville, Penn.

REMINISCENCES of the PACIFIC COAST PIONEERS OF BODIE.

BY R. M. FOLGER.

On the First day of January, 1850, the P. M. Steamer Oregon, R. H. Pearson Commander, sailed from San Francisco for Panama. The Oregon was built for the Pacific Coast trade, before the discovery of gold, and was calculated to accomodate thirty cabin passengers. The California was to have sailed on the 15tth. day of December, 1849. but having broken down on her up trip, the British steamer Sirius—the post steamer from England to New York, in 1845—was chartered to take her place. Being slow, a large number waited two weeks for the Oregon, thus crowding her with 450 passengers—50 cabin and 400 steerage. The time between San Francisco, was not to be less than twenty one days—a limit fixed for fear of breaking down, consequently with a fair wind, steam went down, and with a head one it went up. To kill time the steamer stopped all along shore—Montery, Santa Barbara. San Diego and Acapuleo. Among her passengers were Col. Fremont and William M. Gwin, Senators from California and W. W. Wright and A Gibert, members of Congress, enroute for Washington to take their seats in tanticipation of the admission of California nto the Union. Arriving at Acapuleo in he foren oon the passengers went ashore the steamer to remain in port until next day. Captain Pearson, in company with the Mexican Commander, took a drive into the country returning about two o clock when the troops were reviewed. After review and before the troops returned to the port Captain Norton, a passenger assaulted and knocked Captain Pearson down, in settlement of an old grudge during a voyage from New York to Canton, incurred while they were fellow-mates under Captain Bob. Waterman. Without orders the soldiers charged upon the Americans and wounded Mr. Hobson by a bayonet stab in the back, of tbe firm of Cross, Hobson & Co., of San Francisco. Intense excitement prevailed on shore and shipboard, which was increased on the steamer by signals from Captain Pearson to make ready to leave port, and prevent boats from leaving. Almost every other man was armed, and all prepared to go ashore to take a hand in the fray. Col. Fremont was ashore and calling for volunteers, said he would take the fort within an hour. Within an hour after the attack the Oregon steamed out of the harbor of Panama, In twenty-one days she cast anchor and the passengers gave three cheers for Fremont and Gilbert and three groans for Gwin and Wright. The former mingled with the steerage passengers and were popular, while the latter would not; With his stovepipe hat and white gloves, daily pacing the quarter deck. was always a shining mark. In those days only one ticket would be sold to a single man, and then only in rotation, and, for this steamer a line was formed before dark and applicants "fought it out on that line" until the office opened at ten o'clock next morning. Steerage tickets sold as high as $250 to Panama—time was money in the early days of California. The above is part of a series of Pioneer sketches which will appear in the CHRONICLE.

THE CROPS.—The Stockton Herald says: A gentleman who has just returned from a visit to the West Side reports the crops to be in excellent condition, and that the outlook is very encouraging. The late frosts have not proved at all injurious, and the young grain is coming up nicely. With a few spring showers a full crop is warranted.

Supervisor Crane informs us that the crops in the county generally are backward on account of the excessive and unusual cold weather, but that no great amount of grain has rotted in the ground. The late rains have caused it all to sprout, and it is generally coming up well, and the prospects favor an abundant harvest.

A firm over in Glasgow recently received an alledged box of Oranges from Florida On opening it they found it filled with sand, the crevices and holes of the box having been carefully plugged with sections of the real fruit. They are now inquiring if Florida isn't adjacent to Connecticut.

The class in grammar will please stand up now and answer this question: "How do you parse the word dollar?" Please, if it is a trade dollar. you parse it for 90 cents."

A remarkable matrimonial event was the marriage Friday evening of triplets, the the daughters of William Marshal, in Whitewater, Wis. All six nave gone on a tour.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Suit was entered in the Supreme Court of the District, yesterday, by Jennie Raymond, who charges Senator Hill' of Georgia with seduction and claims $10,000 damages.

Large quantities of lemons from Southern California are now making their appearance in the Philadelphia market.

Rowland E. Trowbridge of Michigan, has been confirmed Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Notice to Creditors of Insolvent.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Mono, State of California.

S. G. Morgan vs. his Creditors.

Pursuant to an order of the Hon. R. M. Briggs Judge of the said Superior Court, notice is hereby given to all the Creditors of the said Insolvent, S. G. Morgan, to be and appear before the said Judge, in open Court, at the Court Room of said Court, in the town of Bridgeport, in the County of Mono, on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1880, at 1 o'clock P. M. of that day, then and there to show cause, if any they can, why the prayer of said Insolvent should not be granted, and an assignment of his estate be made, and he be discharged from his debts and liabilities, in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided; and in the meantime all proceedings against said Insolvent be stayed.

Witness my hand and the seal of said [L. S.] Court, this First day of March, A. D. 1880.

ARRIVALS YESTERDAY.

Mrs. Levy, J. Forey, Geo. Macartney, J J Oswold, Dan Oleen, J. Finlayson, J. Reynard J Wagner, C. Loose, A. F. Hector, W. Kelle Mr. Lawrence.

DEPARTURES TO-DAY.

J. Martinez P. Curtise.

ARRESTED.—Henry Williamson was arrested yesterday upon a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. He paid Jennie McDonald a ten dollar Confederate note for drinks for a party, and received nine dollars in change and five cigars. Judge Peterson released him on bail. The trial takes place to-morrow morning.

TOO HIGH.—Wood is somewhat scarce in town, and dealers are now asking $18 a cord, or what they have. An ownership in a wood yard is a bigger thing just now than the best mining stock in the camp. There is no sense in asking such prices, when wood is plenty "only ten miles away."

CAUGHT NAPPING.—It is said that one of the shot gun fighters at one of our prominent mines fell asleep while on duty on Tuesday night and had his rifle taken from his side. It is lucky for him that he is not in the army under like circumstances, for he would be shot.

PROOF READING.—On Tuesday evening we trusted proof-reading to a constant reader, and yesterday's issue showed it was a fatal error. Yesterday our lady compositors "fired the 'horrid' man out"—it was too good for anything.

RUNAWAY.—Page, Wheaton & Co's team ran away at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the hill, passed down Green street at a terrific gait and was stopped near the Foundry. The tongue of the wagon was broken SNOW.—This morning snow commenced falling which continues when we go to press. It is one of the heaviest of the season.

The estate of the late Dr. H. H. Toland, who died suddenly Friday last, is estimated at from $1,500,000 to $2.000,000 consisting of considerable real property in the interior, together with a large ranch in Rio Vista, where he raised large crops of wheat, one of which he sold about a year ago at $125,000.

"What's in a name?" Ah, William, you don't know everything, that's certain. Salt can be bought for a few cents a quart, but call it chloride of sodium, and the apothecary will mulct you to the tune of half a dollar for one scruple.—Boston Transcript.

The N. Y. Herald's relief fund amounts to over $260,000.

The great secret in gaining happiness in life is to enjoy the present. To be doing one thing and thinking of another is a very unsatisfactory mode of spen ding life Some people are always wishing themselves somewhere but where they are, or thinking of something else than what they are doing, or of somebody else than to whom they are speaking. This is the way to enjoy nothing, to do nothing well, and to please nobody. It is better to be interested in inferior persons and inferior things than to be indifferent with the best. A principal cause of this indifference is the adoption of other people's tastes instead of the cultivation of our own—the pursuit after that for which we are not fitted, and to which consequently we are not in reality inclined. This folly pervades more or less all classes, and arises from the error of building our enjoyment on the false foundation of the world's opinion, instead of being, with due regard to others, each our own world.

Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with the frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient can not account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MARCH 4, 1880.

COSTLY BURIALS.

The member of the Senate or House of Representatives who dies in office is sure of a funeral befitting his position. The arrangements for a proper representation of his fellow-members at the last services are made with little regard to expenses; his virtues are declared in long and eloquent eulogies in Congress, and elegantly-printed volumes of these tributes are distributed by the thousand. By the annual report of the Clerk of the House of Representatives for the year ending June 30, 1879, it appears that the funerals of members who died in that year cost the Government $13,366 97. The funeral of the Hon. Gustave Schleicher, of Texas, cost $5,102 92, of which $313 50 was expended for gloves and silk scarfes, at $9 each for the deligation. The cost of the funeral of the Hon. A. S. Williams was $1,449 60; of the Hon. T. J. Queen, $452 16; of the Hon. Rush Clark; $2,634 45; of the Hon. B. B. Douglas, $1,041 69, and of the Hon, Jullian Hartridge, of Georgia. $2,684 22. The itemized account of the expenses of Mr. Hartridge's funeral shows the manner in which funeral delegation spend the Government's money. The railroad tickets cost $709 50, and $230 were added for a special car. The bill for carriages $183. Before starting on the trip, apparently, an elaborate lunch was provided, and afterwards a dinner. The dinner cost $15, but the cost of the lunch was $140 90; $48 40 of this sum was used at a dining saloon which contained a bar, and $92 50 (which is especially set down as "lunch") at a liquor saloon which does not furnish meals.

A Man's Gait.

A man's spirit and disposition may be read from his gait. He who habitually pursues abstract thought looks down on the ground. He who is accustomed to sudden impulses, or is trying to seize upon some necessary recollection, looks up with a jerk. He who is a steady, cautious, nearly practical man walks on very deliberately, his eyes straight before him, and, even in his most musing moods, observes things sufficiently to avoid a porter's knot or a butchers tray. But the man with strong ganglions—of pushing, lively, temperament, who, though practical, is yet speculative—the man who is emulous and active, and ever trying to rise in life—sanguine, alert, bold—walks with a spring, looks rather above the heads of his fellow-passengers but with a quack, easy turn of his own, which is lightly set on his shoulders; his mouth is open; his eye is bright, rather restless, but penetrative; his port has something of defiance: his form is erect, but without stiffness.

It is in the Irish language that many of the dearest monuments of ancient Irish literature stand at present for the love and honor of those who look with pride on their country's history, her character, her story and her traditions. "How can we," asks an enthusiastic writer, "know the great things of Irish history if we cannot read the language in which some of the greatest are recorded." But putting aside romance and history, and regarding it only philologically, we have the testimony of Vallancey that "the Irish language is free from the anomalies, sterility and heteroclite redundances which mocks the dialects of barbarous nations. It is rich and melodious; it is precise and copious, and affords those elegant conversions which no other than a thinking and cultured people can use or acquire." And Archbishop Ussher adds his appreciative opinion: "Est quidem lingua hæc (scil- Hibernica) et elegans cum primus et opulenta."

A number of leading financiers and social high dignataries of the Imperial Court of Berlin gave a banquet recently in honor of a Miss Leona Dare, a tight rope dancer, who has been creating a sensation in the Prussian capital. Word of the festivity reached the Kaiser and the Crown Prince, and the latter was so angered with two of the nobles present—one of them a prince, and the other a count and a relative of certain great statesmen of the kingdom—that he sent word of his wish not to see either at court again.

Two monkeys were utilized to ascertain the number of children in a neighborhood where school inspectors were puzzled by the falsehood of parents. The monkeys were gayly dressed, put in a wagon, and accompanied a brass band through the streets of the district. Stopping in a park, the school officers distributed candies to the youngsters and took their names and addresses. The trick proved that sixty London fathers had lied.

Tennyson is worth $1,000,000. He made his money easy. He never had the managing editor coming in about two o'clock in the morning for him to grind out a yard of poetry on Blitherskies Cough syrup, at $8 a week and furnish his own pencils.—Kansas City Times.

A Canton man thought he had the best of the ants that infested his eatibles, by putting his goods on a shelf swinging from tarred wires, but they covered the tar of one of the wires with sand and went up and down it as before.

A cow recently broke through a fence, threw an Erie train from the track, killed the engineer, and destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of property, yet its owner sued for and recovered its value.

The name of the old frigate in the ship-house at Sackett's Harbor is the New Orleans. Her keel was laid in 1814, but she was supposed to be the largest vessel in the world.

SNUFF TAKERS.—In the reign of Queen Anne, Court ladies voluntarily contracted the habit of taking snuff. A lady, writing in 1712, describes herself as an insignificant creature, who dressed not, took no snuff, and did no fashionable things. Lady Betty Modish, who would accept no gift from her lover save a snuff-box, asserts, "sincerity in love is as much out of fashion as sweet snuff; nobody takes it now." Steele, who was very fastidious—though in the case in point not too much so—inveighed loudly against the impertinent custom the women had fallen into; whether performed coquettishly or with a sedate, masculine air, it was in his eves equally disagreeable. He describes Mrs. Saunter taking snuff as often as salt with her meals, with such wonderful negligence that an upper lip covered with snuff and sauce was present to all who had the honor of dining with her. He could pardon beauties who manipulated the snuff-box for the sake of displaying a pretty hand; but thought Flaville went a little too far in pulling out her box in the middle of the sermon and offering it to the men and women sitting near her, as well as inviting the church warden to take a pinch as she dropped her contribution into the plate.
